Jaspar has spent a lifetime in the wine industry: he joined Majestic Wine in 1983, at the age of 18, after returning from wine making studies in France.

During his time with Majestic he took a year out to complete his winemaking training, this time in California. He resigned from Majestic in 1989 after selling his stake in the business. He had run the private and corporate wine division.

At just 24 he formed a new wine company called Drinkx Plc. under the 'business expansion scheme', which was sponsored by Rutland Trust. In 1994 he arranged the buyout of a majority stake in Drinkx which was taken up by a consortium of investors a number of whom were from Hong Kong.

The name of the company was changed to Mayfair Cellars Limited.

Mayfair Cellars opened a Hong Kong office to deal with its blossoming business in Asia. A joint venture was formed in Kuala Lumpur. In June 2000 Jaspar sold the business to the Champagne House, Jacquesson & Fils.

During the summer of 1991 Jaspar was asked to create a communication course for a leading Insurance Company. The remit was to create an event that all within the company could participate, that was fun and through which an atmosphere of team building could be initiated. This ignited an interest in presenting which as a younger man Jaspar had always enjoyed - the latent Thespian was released!

By the time the sale of Mayfair had arrived, Jaspar had evolved this group event which had now been called "Building-Bridges". A 9 year run had allowed this event to be rolled out to a number of businesses both in the UK and abroad, most notably in Asia. Following the sale of Mayfair, Jaspar continued to present these events and has added other events to his portfolio, most notably "A Trip Through Bordeaux."

Today Jaspar is presenting both in the UK and Asia. These events have never been more popular and with each event the presentation continues to evolve...

Jaspar Corbett is Chairman of Compass Wines Ltd. a fine wine business that trades Fine Wines to a customer base of private collectors.

Preparation

Our events are totally transportable.
Our events are totally transportable. We like to present them on site at our Client's offices as we feel that this gives better branding, and the transformation from waiting room to tasting room can be rather fun to see...

The "Building-Bridges" Event can be presented to large groups and by doing this in-house the costs can also be reduced at the same time as making the attendance of colleagues easier.

Alternatively we can take our Events to a venue of your choice and budget ~ for our 'Building Bridges' Event The Crypt at Saint Paul's is a popular venue for those in London and the 'Trip Through Bordeaux' Event can fit perfectly with a dinner at the Petrus restaurant, The Island Shangri-La in Hong Kong.

Now we just need the Guests!

Every event is different and each event naturally Every event is different and each event naturally has a different budget, so we tailor the event you chose to extract the most so that you have an exceptional experience and achieve your goals.

achieve your goals.

It is not purely the quality of the presentation but the set-up must be well organized too...

It is not purely the quality of the presentation but the set-up must be well organized too...

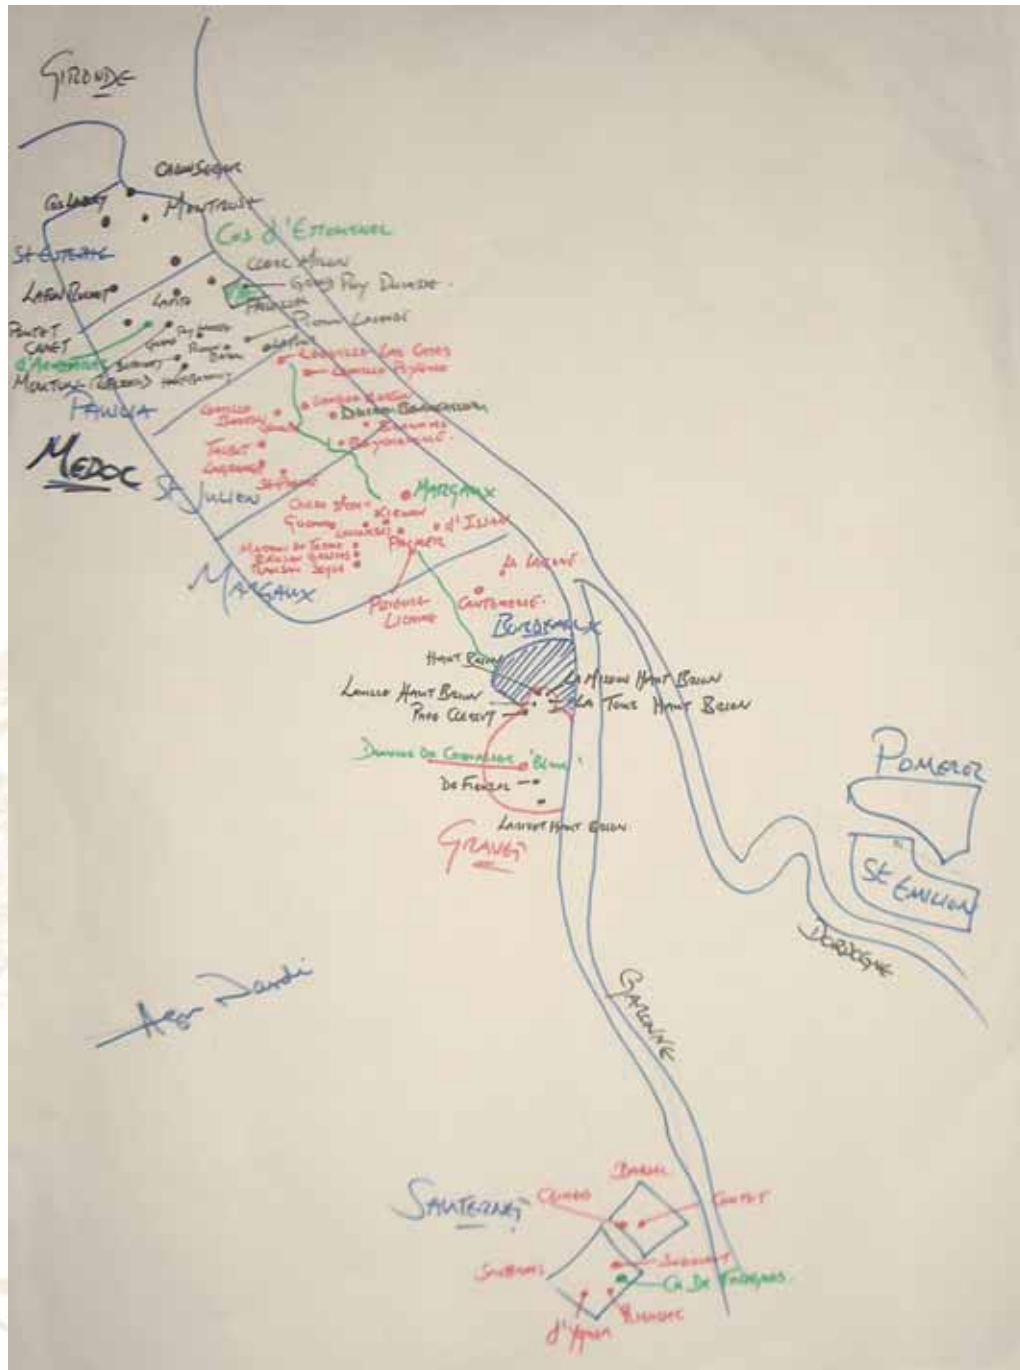

By getting our preparatory work right and discussing the event with our client we are able to make sure the host is comfortable with the event.

If the Host is well briefed as to what will take place, then the guests will feel comfortable and we are on our way to a great event...
